Mission Statement

The University Police Department at the State University College at Oswego was established to maintain and preserve peace on campus. The Department, comprised of professional Law Enforcement Officers and dedicated civilian staff, serves to protect the life, liberty, and property of all individuals who utilize college facilities including students, faculty, staff, and visitors. The uniqueness of providing a public safety function in a university setting mandates that only the best possible candidates are hired, those who are able to relate to a college community.

An ancillary, but equally important mission of the University Police Department is to educate the campus community in the most modern methods of crime prevention and personal safety and to work as a team with other University offices in providing a safe environment for persons to learn and work. Additionally, the department is sworn to afford everyone the right to express themselves without regard to race, creed, gender, religion, or sexual orientation.

The recognition that the University Police Department is not the sole provider of a safe environment, but a member of the entire campus community working as a team, is the foremost precept of our mission.

SUNY Oswego University Police Department

Chief's Report

I am pleased to report that the various challenges presented to University Police in 2004 were dealt with successfully, due in large part to the assistance of the campus community and some outstanding dedication by the officers and staff of University Police.

The major issue of early 2004 was clearly the winter weather. The snowstorms, even by Oswego standards, were a challenge to operations and safety. Prior preparation through policy development and equipment purchases, however, helped us to respond effectively to a variety of storm related problems. Although response times were slowed somewhat by visibility and classes were cancelled on a number of occasions, all requests for service were addressed in a timely manner. A thank you needs to go out to the Grounds Maintenance personnel for their persistent efforts to keep the roadways and fire lanes open during the storms.

On a sad note, we said farewell this past summer to Officer Michael Payne who succumbed to cancer. He was a long standing member of our department who was revered by many police agencies throughout the state for his skills as a police instructor. In addition, he was respected by his peers and others in the campus community for his friendly nature and professionalism. Officer Payne also had a strong volunteer spirit which he often used both on and off campus to help children and those in need. He was a friend to many of us and a role model to us all. We will sorely miss his presence.

Operationally, there were a number of significant changes made within University Police during 2004. Staffing, operational procedures, equipment, software, and training areas, all underwent some level of upgrade or realignment during the year. These changes, along with reports from the Law Enforcement and Parking Divisions of the department are included in the attached Operations Report.

In my opening paragraph I referenced the assistance of the campus community. Although I am without question, very proud of the quality and professionalism of my officers and staff, and the dedication they continue to exhibit, we could never be successful without the cooperation and support of those we serve to protect. Over the past year we have worked closely with a number of administrative departments who have been instrumental to a successful year, including Facilities Operations and Maintenance under George Stooks, Campus Technology Services under Mary Schoeler, Facilities Design and Planning under Tom Simmonds, Residence Life and Housing Office under Charles Weeks, and the Office of Student Affairs under Dr. James Scharfenberger. I would also like to recognize Vice President of Finance and Budget, Mr. Nicholas Lyons and President Deborah Stanley for their support and guidance throughout the year. The people who deserve the greatest credit for helping us stay on our mission, however, are too numerous to name. These are the individual faculty members, students, Food Services staff, other campus employees, and even visitors who have called, written, made personal contact with an officer, or who have directly assisted in helping us maintain a safe campus. Thank you and congratulations to everyone who helped our efforts in 2004.

Operations Report

Crime

Although crime statistics do not fully define the levels and directions of criminal activity, a few positive trends are evident. This year, in particular, showed a significant reduction in crime on campus. The magnitude of the drop is somewhat exaggerated due to a redefining of the offense elements of Aggravated Harassment by a US District Court. However, even with an adjustment for this change, the total number of offenses reported in 2004 was the lowest number by far in over twenty years. One of the most significant drops occurred in Criminal Mischief, which dropped 35% from the previous year.

Major crimes were up somewhat from recent years but not out of the range of the numbers recorded over the last twenty years. As usual, burglaries accounted for over half of these offenses. All but three of the twenty three reported burglaries were committed by perpetrators entering via unlocked residence hall room doors and stealing property. None involved forcibly entering a locked room and only one involved the use of a room key. If resident students could be convinced to lock their room doors, the number of burglaries would very likely drop dramatically. Over the years, the relative safety of the SUNY Oswego Campus has made it difficult to convince students that the benefits of securing their rooms outweigh the freedom and convenience of leaving their doors unlocked.

Most of the other areas of major crime remained as zeros or in the single digits. Two of the sex offenses listed actually occurred in previous years but weren't reported until 2004.

Given the low overall crime numbers for 2004 it would appear that it was a relatively quiet year for University Police. The number of service requests, however, increased by over 500 from the previous year, keeping officers busy responding to a wide variety of noncriminal situations.

Personnel

Joining University Police in 2004 were two new officers, Steven Euler and Evan Proulx. Officer Proulx is a 2003 graduate of SUNY Oswego. Both officers successfully completed the Basic Police Academy at the Central New York Police Academy in Syracuse and have taken their places in daily patrol operations. Although they are new to this profession, both have shown the skills and abilities necessary to become effective members of the team.

Another new member to University Police is Ms. Jo Ann Loomis who took on a Calculations Clerk position in the Parking Division. Given the variety of changes that have taken place in parking operations, including new software, hardware, and operational adjustments, the role is not an easy one, but Ms. Loomis has taken on the challenge, and with a smile to boot.

Parking

To improve service to the campus community, University Police made significant enhancements to the administrative and operational portions of the parking program in 2004. The primary computer software program in use until the summer of 2004 was created in-house on a platform that was could no longer be supported. As such, it was incapable of being upgraded. Our foray into online parking related services under this program was one of the earliest efforts by any college campus to offer these services. By 2004, this too suffered from age and limitations, and had become so undependable early in the year that it was discontinued.

Installation of a new parking database program called PowerPark by T2 Systems began in July, followed closely by the development and installation of new online parking services by T2 Systems. Hardware was also upgraded with this system. This included new point of sale equipment along with a handheld computerized ticket writing system.

The Fall parking registration period was not a pleasant experience for many in the community due to long lines at the Parking Office. This was due to delays in the installation of the online system and the inevitable bugs in any new system as complicated as ours. The benefits, however, will be evident in August of 2005 when lines should be few and far between, and customer convenience is vastly improved.

Although few significant changes were made to campus parking lots or their allocation in 2004, the Parking Committee and this office sought to deal with a number of issues. Many of the issues are, and will continue to be for the foreseeable future, related to the changing face of SUNY Oswego. Construction of the new campus center, rehabilitation work to various buildings, reassignment of various offices and departments to different areas of the campus, and the planned adjustment of traffic patterns, all have a profound effect on parking needs. Some additional parking is currently in the planning stages to address future needs. Many of the changes, however, will be matter of reallocation of existing space. During this time of construction, there will be many necessary adjustments to parking; some temporary, some long term. Until the majority of the construction is completed, this Department, in conjunction with the Parking Committee will be working steadily to adjust parking arrangements to accommodate construction and relocation needs. The guide post in decisions about Parking will continue to be safety.

Equipment

Replacement for two aging patrol vehicles was planned for 2004, but due to a number of issues the purchase could not be completed by the end of the year. Mileage on the vehicles to be replaced was 133,000 miles and 162,000 miles at year's end. Given the need for response in winter snow conditions, at least one of the new vehicles will have four wheel drive capability.

To meet a long standing need for a vehicle capable of hauling department equipment, a used US Postal vehicle was purchased in the Fall of 2004. With minimal expense, the vehicle was converted for use as a major event resource vehicle, an Emergency Response Team vehicle, and an equipment vehicle for off-site training. Additional work on the van is planned for 2005 to increase the vehicle's usefulness.

Specialized Units

Lieutenant Kevin Velzy reported that 2004 was a difficult one for the University Police Bike Patrol at SUNY Oswego. With manpower shortages, and the loss of Officer Angotti who transferred to another Police agency, we were unable to put an officer out on bicycle patrol until late July. The Bike Patrol did assist the Oswego City Police with Harborfest, the annual Summer festival in late July which attracts nearly 300,000 people. In the Fall of 2004 with additional officers trained and ready for duty, we were able to utilize the bike patrol often. Officer Manners who had previously been trained and IPMBA certified, joined the Bike Squad in September as well. In this short period, Bike Officers Barbeau, Manners, VanAntwerp, Woodruff, and Lt. Velzy logged 360 miles and a total of 248 hours on patrol. They wrote 33 tickets for parking and traffic violations and made eight arrests. Also, in conjunction with the Oswego County Traffic Safety Board, Lt. Velzy was able to secure a $3,000 grant for the purchase of bicycle helmets and safety equipment for kids to be given away during the upcoming year. We look forward to more activity with the Bike Patrol in 2005.

The status of the Emergency Response Team is the strongest it has ever been. The addition of experienced, dedicated members, procurement of necessary equipment and efforts of all involved have allowed the team to become an active, viable tactical group. Led by Officer Dan May, with administrative oversight by Lieutenant Kirk Coates, the team conducted eight training sessions in calendar year 2004. A combined total of 352 hours of training were logged for the team. Of those hours, approximately 80 were dedicated to specialized firearms training. All six members are currently certified in the use of Specialty Impact Munitions and five are certified in the use of Distraction Devices. Thank you to Officer Michael Roden of the Auburn Police Department and Lt. Sam Servadio of the NYS Department of Environmental Conservation Police for their assistance in providing specialized training to the team.

For several years the Department has provided instruction to the campus community in the Rape Aggression Defense Program (RAD). The RAD instructor team headed by Captain Cynthia Adam, with assistance from department instructors Dan May, Geri Bosco, and Matthew Barbeau, and civilian Kathy Hangac, conducted four sections of the course during 2004 to a total of over 65 women. The course is intensive both for the students and instructors but it is one of the most beneficial services we currently provide to the community. More detail is included in the Captain's Report section of this report.

Training

Basic Police training took the greatest number of training hours in 2004. Officers Kriesel, Euler, and Manners completed this training at the Central New York Police Academy in Syracuse. On completion of the CNY portion of the academy, new officers receive other mandated training from University Police Instructors including a field training component that consists of 10-15 weeks of instruction. Each year basic training covers more topics as well as expanded instruction in standard topics.

In addition to the Emergency Response Team (ERT) training mentioned above, a number of officers received training to update their skills in a variety of areas. Among other areas, officers received training in digital photography, crime scene and evidence gathering, interview and interrogation techniques, field training, patrol investigative techniques, evidence room management, and updates in street drugs investigations. More detail is included in the Training Report.

This Department cosponsored a four day Interview and Interrogation course with the Oswego City Police Department which was held on the campus in January. This was made possible through our association with MAGLOCLLEN (Middle Atlantic-Great Lakes Organized Crime Law Enforcement Network). The course attracted over two hundred law enforcement officers from Canada, New York, and other states, and was well received by those attending.

Captain's Report

The primary mission of the New York State University Police (NYSUP) at SUNY Oswego is to provide emergency and law enforcement response for the campus community and any of the additional properties owned by SUNY Oswego.

An additional branch of NYSUP's overarching mission is to serve as a pro-active educational resource for our community in numerous capacities and to be the conduit of information regarding such topics as the law, safety, security and the nature and incidence of crime on this campus in a concerted effort to prevent future crime and to foster positive relationships with our community.

Personal safety information, crime prevention strategies, the laws of New York State and the rules, regulations and procedures of the SUNY campus are the foundation of our prevention education curriculum.

The goal of this aspect of UP's mission is to educate and inform our community members of safety related information and the services provided by University Police.

SUNY Oswego is a statistically safe, well informed community with a close knit campus whose constituencies (faculty, staff and students) work closely together to create a team environment.

NYSUP is an important part of that community team in many regards and we are actively engaged in many of the projects, programs and endeavors undertaken by the campus to make SUNY Oswego the wonderful place it is to live, work and study.

Another key objective is to inform our student body, faculty and staff that they can have a positive impact on our campus environment regarding their own safety and the general security of this college by making good choices relative to safety and security and by educating themselves about these topics.

University Police Officers stress in these programs that having a safe campus is a shared responsibility between our communities citizens and the University Police Department.

In the furtherance of attaining the above goals, University Police at Oswego has established a robust community policing model which shares resources, personnel and expertise with our campus via community service programs and college committees and task forces whose work pertains to safety and security.

In providing this multi-tiered platform of connections between our college community and the NYS University Police we have built a bridge that carries services and information to and from our department to the citizens we serve and protect.

One of the most direct ways that we establish connections to our campus is through our community service programs described below.

Community Service Programs

During 2004 the New York State University Police at Oswego continued to provide quality educational programming upon request for the SUNY Oswego college community in ever increasing venues in guest speaking engagements in many forums on a variety of topics.

In 2004 University Police provided 84 community service programs to the Oswego campus and surrounding high schools as well as to the larger community.

In addition to the above community service programs, University Police provided programming on personal safety, University Police services and Parking at all of the Summer Transfer, Commuter, and Freshmen student orientation programs.

We also participated in the Fall student, new Faculty, and the Student Teacher orientation programs.

We provided personnel for the Summer Educational programs through the ESL program.

We provided training to our Residence Life and Housing Director's/Assistant Hall Director's and stand alone training programs for all Residence Assistant's at the beginning of both Fall and Spring semesters on a numerous safety related subjects including personal safety, sexual assault prevention and University Police services.

We participated in the training of all Campus Life building managers for new and returning staff.

We co-sponsored several programs in cooperation with Lifestyles and WHC/Counseling on the topic of Responding and Referring Survivors of Sexual Assault to Auxiliary Services staff, as well as to Faculty, Professional Staff and Students.

Below find some of the committees, projects, task forces and programs that the members of our department have been involved in the year 2004.

Projects in the year 2004 included a major revision and overhaul (in terms of the format) of the document entitled,

“Your Personal Safety, A Report to the Community” which is an annual report compiled every year and disseminated to the campus community. This booklet is the compliance document for the Jeanne Clery Act, and the creation of a new “responding and referring” training format for survivors of sexual assault and other members of the community to raise awareness about the nature, incidence of sexual assault and abuse and resources available in this area to assist survivors and those impacted by assault/abuse. This program was offered to students, faculty and staff upon demand, via the Sexual Assault Sub Committee, a branch of the Personal Safety Task Force.

The RAD System is a comprehensive, nationally recognized course of self-defense for women that begins with awareness, prevention, risk reduction and avoidance, while progressing onto the basics of hands-on defense training.

In 2004 RAD provided 16 hour blocks of instruction in 4 programs to a total of over 65 women for academic credit.

Uniform Traffic Ticket Report

A total of 420 New York State Uniform Traffic Tickets (TSLEDS) were issued by the Oswego State University Police Department in 2004. This represents a decrease of 37 tickets from 2003. Approximately thirty-eight (38%) percent or 161 of these tickets were for speeding on campus roadways. Motor vehicle operators charged with speeding averaged 39 miles per hour or 19 miles per hour over the posted speed limit (20 miles per hour). Again, there was no increase in violator speed from 2003 and has remained at that low average since 1995. University Police patrols continue to dedicate themselves to reduction of risk of motor vehicle accidents and to provide safe passage on campus roads and adjacent pedestrian walkways. Violator speed is affected by numerous factors including but not limited to: weather, unfamiliar surroundings, using campus roadways as an alternative to major highways/streets for passage to venues near campus, and simple driver inattention. The fact that low violator speed can be maintained while fewer Uniform Traffic Tickets are issued in general, is a clear sign that motor vehicle operators on campus recognize University Police commitment to safety and the enforcement of all New York State Vehicle and Traffic Laws.

Seventeen persons were arrested for Driving While Intoxicated in 2004, an increase of one from 2003. The average blood alcohol content (BAC) of violators was .17%. This was a slight increase in the average BAC in 2003. The legal limit for Driving While Ability Impaired (DWAI) is .05% to .07%. The legal limit of Driving While Intoxicated (DWI) is .08% and above. The University Police Department is dedicated to reduce drunk driving on campus and adjacent roads through education and apprehension. Arrests for DWI are made in both day and night patrols. Most arrests for DWI are made between the hours of 3:00 p.m. and 5:00 a.m. during which over 76% of Uniformed Traffic Tickets are issued. Patrols during these hours are most concerned with the safety of vehicular and pedestrian traffic which is more likely affected by increased traffic, lighting, weather and other factors.

Over $30,700 in fines were collected as a result of the conviction of violators of New York State Vehicle and Traffic Laws on campus roadways. Approximately $6,500 of those fines were the result of arrest and conviction of DWI offenders. Those fines are returned to Oswego County's Stop DWI program to be used by law enforcement agencies for education, detection and apprehension of DWI offenders. Tickets issued and the number of convictions are listed below. Often, multiple tickets issued to offenders are dismissed in satisfaction of a higher level offense.
