Adjunct Professor's New Book to be Released Soon

Ms. Suzanne Tingley, Sackets Harbor Superintendent and Adjunct Professor, will have her new book Dealing with Difficult Parents released soon from Cottonwood Press. This is a topic that is at the heart of teaching and leadership positions. Here is a sneak preview of the book.

Despite abundant evidence to the contrary, Pinocchio's Mom insists that her child doesn't lie. It is hard to tell whether she actually believes this or whether she is foolish enough to think that the teacher would believe this. She makes the teacher want to jump up and scream, "Liar liar pants on fire!" There are more professional ways of handling this; however, Dealing with Difficult Parents is a humorous look at the two percent of parents who can make a teacher's life ninety-eight percent miserable. You've seen these folks before -- Pinocchio's Mom, the Intimidator, the Caped Crusader, the Helicopters, the Pickalittles -- parents who mean well, but who are often unwilling to let their children take responsibility for their actions. Dealing with Difficult Parents gives the teacher many practical suggestions about ways to work with difficult parents while keeping one's sense of perspective.

Beginning with A Short History of Parents -- the Ancients, the book explains how things used to be a long time ago. When we were children, our parents did not complain to our teachers if we didn't like an assignment. They did not call the principal if we got detention. They did not believe that we never lied. They did not care if we were bored in school, and they did not accept it as an excuse for poor grades. They did not believe that children had personality conflicts with teachers. As children, our personalities had no standing. They NEVER told us that we should respect teachers only if they respected us.

Things change, however, and some of today's parents have come almost 180 degrees. With 30 years in education as both a teacher and administrator, the author provides lots of practical suggestions to deal effectively with demanding parents or to even avoid confrontation in the first place. Some of the conversations with parents will make you laugh out loud, as you recognize the truth of the situation. It's a practical book, but a very funny one. Congratulations Suzanne!

Faculty Updates...

Dr. Suzanne Gilmour

Dr. Gilmour is teaching EAD 610 in the North Country this semester. Alumnus Fred Hall '00, Principal at Knickerbocker Elementary School in Watertown, Leueen Smithling '02, Middle School Principal in Lowville, and Mary-Margaret Zehr '99, Jr/Sr High School in General-Brown, comprise a great co-teaching team for the course. We have had additional alumni joining us as guest speakers. These distinguished speakers include Dr. Robert Ike (MS program '99), Superintendent at Belleville-Henderson; Steve Todd '03, Assistant Principal at Watertown High School; Dan McDougal '05, Assistant Director of Special Education for Watertown; Rob Goss '02, Athletic Director for Lowville; Dawn Ludovici (SDP '01), Assistant Superintendent at the Jefferson-Lewis BOCES; Dr. Marilyn Trainor, adjunct professor and Assistant Superintendent for Watertown; and Russ Berger '03, Principal at the Jefferson-Lewis BOCES Technical Center. Additional alumni will comprise the panels for the Unison presentations.

Dr. Gilmour is continuing to serve as the liaison to the North Country Title IID initiative and provides leadership professional development for principals in the region. She is also collaborating with Syracuse University on the Title IID initiative at the Cayuga-Onondaga BOCES and an evaluation of Comprehensive School Reform Demonstration Projects (CSR) in Watertown and New York City. She and Dr. Silky are completing the Reading First Evaluation for the Hannibal School District.

As Executive Director of the New York State Association for Women in Administration, she is working with the conference planning coordinators Mary Balme, Deb Decker '01, and NYSAWA Chair Dr. Diane Reed to finalize details for the upcoming conference on April 30-May 1, 2006, at the Marriott in Albany. Presenters include Commissioner Richard Mills, Associate Committee Sheila Evans-Tranum, Ronald Mendrick, Bethany Centrone, Tim McElheran (SDP Faculty '05/06), Dawn Santiago-Marullo, Mary Balme, Marge Meggesto '84, Pat Richards '91, Dr. Glenn Wachter, Dr. Suzanne Gilmour, Dr. Mary Kinsella '89, Dr. Jan Hammond, Dr. Diane Reed and Dr. Brenda Myers. Additional alumni will participate in an interviewing and career consulting seminar. For a complete conference brochure, please contact the website at www.nysawa.org.

In collaboration with Dr. Mary Kinsella '89, Dr. Gilmour recently presented research on women in the superintendency at the AASA conference in San Diego. They will present this research at NYSAWA and are writing additional articles reflecting this research.

Thanks to the support of Dean Linda Rae Market, Dr. Gilmour and Dr. Betsy Waterman, Counseling and Psychological Services Chair, attended the Leadership Conference for Department Chairs in Orlando. Workshops were specifically designed for enhancing leadership skills for department chairs.

Dr. Gilmour was awarded a sabbatical for the fall 2006 semester. She has proposed a sabbatical project to enhance diversity in the department by teaching and creating collaboration with school inspectors in Benin, Africa. She will travel there this summer and next fall to provide leadership professional development. She will work with these inspectors to develop a long-term collaboration that might possibly result in Benin faculty members traveling to Oswego and/or the development of an online course and distance learning opportunities. In addition, she will be continuing her writing on women in leadership and the spiritual dimension of leadership.

Dr. William Silky

Dr. Silky is teaching EAD 610 - The Principalship in Baldwinsville this spring semester. Jeff Craig '97, Principal at Jamesville-Dewitt Middle School, has graciously agreed to co-teach with Dr. Silky. In addition, a line-up of guest speakers include Beth Lozier '03, currently Assistant Middle School Principal in West Genesee and soon-to-be Principal of Stonehedge Elementary in the district; Joe Lazarski '90, Principal at Ray Middle School in Baldwinsville; Pat Mason '96, Elementary Principal in Tully; Jane Suddaby, Assistant Superintendent at Oswego BOCES; Lisa Dineen, Director of Special Education in Fayetteville-Manlius (currently in the SDP program); Rick Pound '03, Athletic Director at Skaneateles; Dawn Preston '96, Assistant Superintendent for Instruction in Baldwinsville; and Mark Mondonaro, Superintendent at Lafayette Central School District.

Dr. Silky also tells us that the 2006 Superintendent Development Program got off to a fast start the end of January. More detailed information about this appears on page 9 of this newsletter. Bill also reports that his nine administrative interns are nearing completion of this capstone experience. All have learned a great deal from these rich experiences.

Continuing his consultation with school districts, Dr. Silky, along with colleagues Dr. Phil Martin and Dr. Lucy Martin are working with the Liverpool Central School District examining the current grade configuration. A broadly representative committee has been meeting throughout the year to explore various configuration options. Bill recently has completed his work with the Central Square Board of Education in its efforts to find a successor for Superintendent Dr. Walter Doherty who is retiring at the end of this school year.

Finally, Dr. Silky, along with Dr. Gilmour, is nearing completion of the second year evaluation of the Hannibal Central School District's Reading First initiative.

Dr. Silky has once again been invited by the New York State Council of School Superintendents to present to aspiring superintendents in Rochester on April 27th. The topics are getting your paperwork in order and conducting the superintendent search. Bill has again been asked to do career counseling at the May 1st NYSAWA Conference in Albany and to speak to new school superintendents in the T-S-T BOCES on May 11th.

Despite his busy schedule, Dr. Silky and his wife will be making time for a 10-day trip to Ireland this coming summer.

Dr. Glenn Wachter

Time has certainly moved quickly in the Finger Lakes area throughout the late fall and present, spring semester. It is a remarkable perspective that I enjoy when engaging with one cohort which is in the midst of completing their program as interns and concurrently teaching courses to students in the early stages of their program. It is a continuously renewing experience as I observe our aspiring leaders work through their stages of growth. And as we all know, I do mean work! Our program is demanding, but as I once again heard from a successful graduate at a recent EAD 610 session, the program prepares students well for the challenges that lie ahead.

It also has been a rewarding experience this past fall finishing work with one group of SDP [Superintendent Development Program] graduates, and then beginning a new cohort in January. From all reports and observations, as well as the first topic session yesterday afternoon in Akron, NY, this should be a great year for our current SDP group. Besides interacting with the associates, it is a privilege to work with the superintendents who serve as SDP faculty members. I often wonder if our associates can appreciate fully the wealth of knowledge and experience that the SDP faculty so willingly and altruistically share while they are in the midst of the program. It's a great combination: associates who seek out and absorb the learning and superintendents who teach their craft with such commitment and skill.

As the spring semester begins to draw to a close, I have high expectations for Unison presentations and for the opportunity to see the smiles of satisfaction well deserved at May graduation. Wishing you all the best on the completion of a successful school year.

We would like to offer our best wishes to Dr. Patricia Richards '91, Assistant Superintendent for Instructional Support Services (ISS), and SUNY Oswego Educational Administration Adjunct Faculty member upon her retirement.

Pat began her career in education as an elementary school teacher. She taught for ten years. She began at OCM BOCES in 1989, and has worn many hats. She has served as the Coordinator of Educational Programs, Assistant Director of ISS, Director of ISS and Assistant Superintendent, a position she has held for ten years.

Pat received her Ph.D. through the collaborative doctoral program between SUNY OSWEGO and SUNY Albany. She has served as an adjunct faculty member supervising our interns and providing leadership for our Aspiring Leaders Symposia, several collaborative writing initiatives which resulted in a wide variety of publications and the Leaders Write Project. Pat is a member of the Central New York State Association for Women in Administration (CNYSAWA) Executive Board and an alternate for the state-wide NYSAWA board.

Pat and her husband will be moving to Charleston, South Carolina, shortly after her retirement. She has been an invaluable asset to SUNY Oswego, OCM BOCES and numerous school districts. We will miss you, Pat!

Notice to All Alumni

Dr. Silky publishes a weekly job vacancy email list that includes all titles except the superintendency. He also maintains one for superintendent vacancies that come out once a month. As an alumnus of the Oswego CAS Program, you are always welcome to be a recipient of either. Simply email Dr. Silky at silky@oswego.edu and let him know that you would like to be added to the list.

2005 READLING AWARD RECIPIENT

Patricia LaBarr

The Reading Award is given to an individual who is nominated by his or her peers as someone likely to make significant contributions to the field of administration. For the 2005 year the Educational Administration team proudly recognized three recipients. Interviews of two recipients, Tony Cardamone and Krista Lewis, appeared in the Fall 2005 Newsletter. This spring, we thank Patti LaBarr for her contributions in the field and congratulate her on her award. In the following interview, Ms. LaBarr took the time to offer insight on her experiences in administration.

Ms LaBarr had been teaching for eighteen years as well as coaching swimming for several years. She then decided she wanted to make a bigger difference in the field of education. She states, "It is a tremendous feeling to impact twenty-five students, but why stop at twenty-five? Why not several hundred or even thousands?" Ms. LaBarr feels the EAD program was a stepping-stone for her to make the change from classroom leadership to district-wide leadership.

Currently, Ms. LaBarr is the Math K-8 Staff Developer/Coach for Watertown City Schools. She is responsible for the math curriculum in four elementary schools, one intermediate, and one middle school. Ms. LaBarr works with eight administrators, one hundred and thirty-four classroom teachers, and approximately thirty-three hundred students. She has also spent time coaching teachers who are implementing the K-8 math program for the first time.

When asked of what, in her current role, she was most proud, Ms. LaBarr shared, "I am most proud of leading the teachers to a district-wide curriculum map, putting everyone on the same page, and providing parents with opportunities to become involved with the school". Ms. LaBarr also notes many accomplishments including a K-8 curriculum map, setting K-8 math goals, K-8 Math Parent Night (A Taste of Math), 4-8 Math Night with Cheri Eck (National Trainer for Box Cars and One eyed Jacks), math scoring training for grades 2-8, and incorporating the NYS performance indicators into the curriculum.

When asked about major challenges facing her and those in her role today, Ms. LaBarr exclaims, "CHANGE!!!!!" Other major challenges she faces as a staff developer include guiding teachers through the implementation of a recently adopted math program in her district as well as the recently adopted New York State testing program for grades 3-8 (a result of NCLB mandates). Ms. LaBarr believes, "Change needs to be seen as an opportunity for growth in school community. By starting with the end in mind, improving student achievement, stakeholders in the school community can move forward with change."

The best advice Ms. LaBarr feels she can offer future educational administrators is to, "LISTEN and NETWORK. Be proactive, not reactive! Be Positive! Be involved! As you help others to grow professionally, remember to continue your own professional growth. I think that is very important to remember where you come from, too."

As for characteristics and skills Ms. LaBarr feels she possesses that have helped her in her field, she shares, "My experience as a classroom teacher, my people skills and internship experience have provided me with a solid foundation for becoming a math developer." Ms. LaBarr also feels the math experience is giving her an opportunity to develop curriculum leadership skills. She enthusiastically states, "At the end of this year, I will be ready for a principal's position." Ms LaBarr adds, "I think above all of this that being a parent has enabled me to make strides in the field. I want the best for children. If the answer isn't in the best interest of all children, then it isn't the right answer!"

Last, Ms. LaBarr would like to thank the family of John Readling for initiating this award as well as her 601 and 610 colleagues for the wonderful experiences they shared. Ms. LaBarr feels all of her colleagues deserved a Readling Award. "I truly believe that we all have the power to make a significant contribution to the field of administration. (Think about our professional growth since 601!)." Ms. LaBarr would also like to thank Dr. William Silky, Dr. Suzanne Gilmour, and Ms. Suzanne Tingley for their never-ending vagueness. She states, "I finally understand it!"

Ms. LaBarr also sends a special thanks to her family, George, Paige, and George, for their support at home!

Superintendent Development Program Update

Western New York-North 2006 SDP Team

The 2006 Superintendent Development Program Orientation Session was held at the Liverpool OCM BOCES Training Center on January 27th and 28th. Thirty-six associates (students) and thirteen cohort faculty members (superintendents) joined Dr. Bill Silky, Dr. Glenn Wachter, Dr. Lucy Martin and Dr. Jim Merrins (Statewide Administrator). Dr. Jessica Cohen '86, OCM BOCES District Superintendent, welcomed everyone and Jeanne Dangle, Superintendent of Baldwinsville Central Schools, offered some encouraging words about the superintendency.

Seven teams of associates have been formed regionally. The teams are Western New York (Buffalo to Jamestown), Mid-West (mostly in the Rochester area), Mid-State North (primarily Onondaga and Oswego counties), Mid-State South (Cayuga and Tompkins counties), Central New York (the Mohawk Valley), Southern Tier (centered around Corning and Hammondsport), and Hudson-Mohawk (the greater Albany-Saratoga area).

Hudson-Mohawk Region 2006 SDP Team

The cohort faculty members mentoring each team include Western New York -- Ada Grabowski, Superintendent in Albion CSD, and Ron DeCarli, Superintendent of Akron CSD; Mid-West--Tim McElheran, Superintendent in Victor CSD, and Bob Christmann, Superintendent in Newark CSD; Mid-State North -- Alice Kendrick, Superintendent of Jamesville-Dewitt CSD, and Doug Larison, Superintendent of Homer CSD; Mid-State South--Marilyn Dominick '93, Superintendent of Jordan-Elbridge CSD, and Bill Tammaro, Superintendent of Moravia CSD; Central New York -- Pete Backus, Superintendent of Hamilton CSD, and Toni Kulak '90, Superintendent of Westmoreland CSD; Southern Tier -- Chris Brown, Superintendent of Hammondsport CSD; and Hudson-Mohawk -- Randy Ehrenberg, Superintendent of North Colonie CSD, and Bruce Levin (SDP '01), Superintendent of Lake George CSD. Many thanks to these loyal SDP faculty members who mentor so terrifically!

Mid-State South 2006 SDP Team

Mid-State North 2006 SDP Team

All the SDP teams are off and running. Weekly meetings, issue analyses, topic sessions, and superintendent interviews are helping them explore this important leadership role. On July 12th and 13th all the associates and faculty will again convene in Liverpool for the mid-program session. A busy agenda is being planned as we write!

In addition, this past winter considerable interest surfaced for bringing the SDP to Long Island. Dr. Silky has been holding discussions with a representative of Dowling College and Dr. Rick Volp, recently retired Superintendent of Cold Springs Harbor UFSD and former SDP faculty member, concerning the feasibility of offering the SDP on the Island.
