Broadcasting in Quebec

Comparative studies in world broadcasting will focus on Canada, in particular the French-speaking cities of Montreal and Quebec City. Students will learn the differences and similarities of communication systems globally with emphasis on French Canadian processes and media organizations. By studying the economic, regulatory, and political structures, students will learn about media’s role in larger Quebec society. Site visits to television stations, newspapers, political parties and more are planned.

The jewel of what used to be Nouvelle France is Quebec City. It is the only walled city in North America and offers 17th-century architecture, cobblestone streets, and spectacular views of the Saint Lawrence River. Montreal, the second largest French-speaking city in the world, is more a mixture of old and new, from le vieux port to the Biodome. In this course we will explore Quebec City and Montreal.
Housing and Meals
Students will be housed in hotels in Montreal and Quebec. Some meals are provided.
